Introduction

Our approach to fees is simple – we aim to ensure that clients are clear about the services being provided and the fees they are required to pay for those services. We aim to agree fees that represent fair value, both to us and our clients. This provides a solid foundation for a successful long term relationship.

Before we provide you with our advice we will provide you with a proposal document which confirms the advice we have agreed to provide and the initial planning fees you will pay.

Transparency is key, particularly where fees are concerned and our planning fees will be detailed in monetary terms and agreed by you in advance of any work being undertaken.

You will be notified in advance of any additional costs which might be incurred, prior to work commencing.

On acceptance of our proposal we will prepare our advice and your recommendation letter this will include a clear summary of all of the costs and charges payable, not just to us but also to the recommended providers and investment fund managers so that you can clearly see and understand the overall costs of our services and recommendations. This is referred to as 'Aggregated costs and charges'.

Should you have any other planning requirements not listed, we will be happy to discuss them with you and agree a personal arrangement.

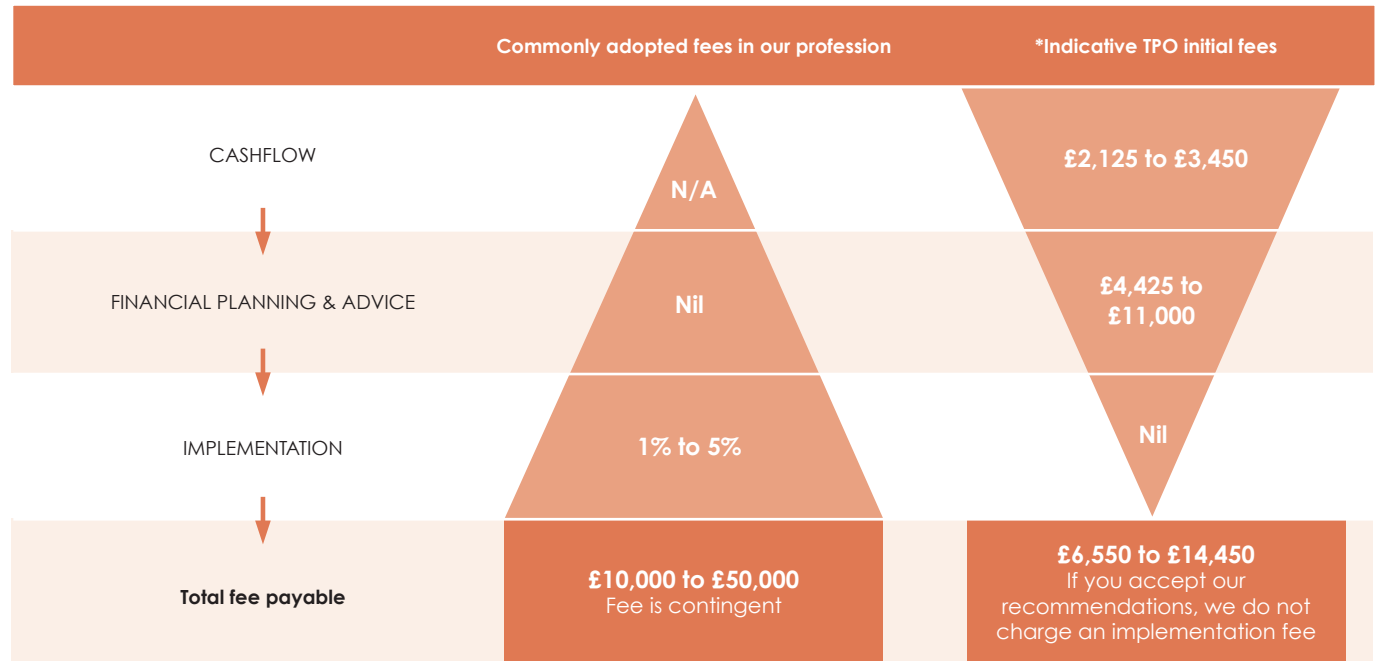

Our approach to fees

We work with many clients who have taken advice from other financial advice firms and therefore we have a good understanding of the fees they charge and how these are structured.

In the majority of cases, adviser fees depend on you following their course of action or investing capital; this is called contingent charging. A typical implementation fee from such advisory firms will range between 1% to 5% of assets invested. Based on £1million, for example, that is £10,000-£50,000.

Our approach to fee charges is different, as illustrated in the example below.

*Your journey, and the services you engage us to provide, are based on your personal financial planning needs and will not necessarily mirror the journey in the example above. Please read on for our detailed menu of services and associated fees.

Our fee charges and VAT

The application of VAT in relation to financial planning advice and the provision of ongoing services is complex.

Broadly speaking, VAT is not chargeable if the financial planning services we provide to you leads us to introduce (recommend) a financial product which is implemented. This is known as intermediation.

Where intermediation occurs both our initial advice fees and the ongoing investment and advice fees associated with these products are free from VAT.

However, it should be noted that not all of the services we provide fall within the definition of intermediation and in such cases, VAT will be charged in addition to the fees outlined in this document.

Examples of services we provide where VAT will normally apply are:

- Cashflow planning
- Cash management
- Defined Benefit Transfer Analysis and Advice
- Financial planning assessment and discussion documents
- Ongoing Financial Planning - this does not apply to your ongoing investment fees which are payable in addition and which are associated to a specific financial product making them VAT exempt.

We will always confirm the VAT position for the services you require before commencing work.

Equity Release Service

Equity release services can meet a number of financial planning needs and our highly skilled equity release specialists are qualified to provide this service as part of a comprehensive financial plan.

Our equity release service fees range from £5,000 to £30,000 with the fee charged being determined by the complexity of your financial planning needs and the work which will need to be completed to provide you with the most appropriate solution for your particular circumstances. Below are some examples of where equity release can meet a financial planning need and our indicative advice fees.

EQUITY RELEASE
Example scenario	Estimate fees
Home adaptation In this situation the expenditure need is known in advance and there are no additional planning needs to be addressed.	£5,000
Care needs funding In addition to exploring equity release options we will also consider the availability of local authority assistance and the purchase of a care annuity (funded from existing liquid assets or from equity released from your home).	£10,000
Debt Repayment Getting a detailed understanding of current debts to be cleared and costs. This can sometimes involve multiple properties. Looking at cash flow and implications of clearing the existing debt and benefits of doing so.	£20,000
Estate Planning Property wealth can make estate planning challenging during your lifetime and equity release can be a useful tool in passing wealth to the next generation during your lifetime in a tax efficient manner. When estate planning is the key planning need we will engage with the extended family and their legal advisers to ensure that a joined up approach is taken. This type of planning will often include an element of trust planning, gifting and insurance considerations.	£30,000

Typically, equity release providers will pay a fee to your financial adviser when your equity release application is completed and this fee will be applied against the total fee payable, which will have previously been disclosed to you before we commence work. The payment of this fee from the recommended equity release provider does not have any impact on the interest rate terms of the facility you will be offered.
